EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with George Grove on May 23, 2006.

In the Claims:

Claim 1 has been canceled.

Claim 2, line 1: "1" has been changed to --9--; "aluminum article is a" has been deleted.

Claim 2, line 2: "sheet metal" has been deleted; -- is -- has been inserted after "panel"

Claim 3, line 1: "1" has been changed to --9--; "aluminum article is a" has been deleted.

Claim 3, line 2: "sheet metal" has been deleted; -- is -- has been inserted after "panel"

Claim 4, line 1: "1" has been changed to --9--; "aluminum article is a" has been deleted.

Claim 4, line 2: "sheet metal" has been deleted; -- is -- has been inserted after "panel"

Claim 5, line 1: "1" has been changed to --9--; "aluminum article is a" has been deleted.

Claim 5, line 2: "sheet metal" has been deleted; -- is -- has been inserted after "panel"

Claim 6 has been amended as follows:

6. (Currently Amended) A method of making an external automotive vehicular aluminum alloy article having a colored anodized surface in which the color is stabilized against degradation by ultraviolet radiation, said method comprising:

anodizing said surface of said article in an aqueous sulfuric acid bath to form a colorable anodized layer on said surface, said layer being characterized by porous crystalline columns of aluminum oxide;

electrolytically depositing metal particles in the pores of said anodized layer for coloring said layer; and before said colored layer is exposed to color-degrading ultraviolet radiation, heating said colored layer at a temperature above 300°F for a period sufficient to stabilize said color layer against said radiation; and, thereafter, incorporating said article into an automotive vehicle body where said colored layer will be exposed to ultraviolet radiation.

Claim 9 has been amended as follows:

9. (Currently Amended) A method of making an exterior automotive vehicular aluminum alloy sheet metal body panel having a colored anodized surface in which the color is stabilized against degradation by ultraviolet radiation, said method comprising:

forming said body panel from an aluminum alloy sheet material chosen for the forming of said panel; anodizing said surface of said formed panel in an aqueous sulfuric acid bath to form a colorable anodized layer on said surface, said layer being characterized by porous crystalline columns of aluminum oxide and having a thickness of 15 micrometers or greater;

heating said colored layer at a temperature above 300°F for a period sufficient to stabilize said color layer against said radiation; and, thereafter, incorporating said body panel into an automotive vehicle body where said colored layer will be exposed to ultraviolet radiation.

COMMENTS

These changes have been made to more particularly recite applicant's invention and incorporate the amendments set forth in the informal fax transmitted by George Grove on May 16, 2006. Basis for the amendments is found, for example, in paragraph [0004] where use of aluminum panels in automotive vehicles which are exposed to ultraviolet radiation is described. The first lines of claims 6 and 9 have been amended to recite an "external automotive vehicular" article to be consistent with the additional limitation ("incorporating said article into an automotive vehicle body where said article will be exposed to ultraviolet radiation") set forth by Mr. Groove in the fax. Claim 1 has been canceled as reciting essentially the same subject matter as claim 6 but without positively reciting the steps of anodizing and electrolytically depositing metal particles for coloring the anodized layer. Dependent claims 2-5 have been amended to depend from claim 9. This examiner's amendment and the interview summary records are considered to constitute a complete summary of the interviews conducted on May 16, 2006 and May 23, 2006. It is not deemed necessary for applicant to provide a separate record of the substance of the interviews.
